

Alpha Phi Omega has established service to the Fraternity as one of the four fields of service in which chapters should be involved. At the 2018 National Convention in Austin, Texas, chapters will have the opportunity to conduct a national service project for the Fraternity by volunteering in one of the nine convention areas listed below. None of these opportunities involve commitment prior to the Convention. This is an opportunity to have your chapter recognized for the service it provides at this year's convention, as well as have priority for future convention service opportunities.

To express interest in volunteering as a chapter at the 2018 National Convention, please send an email to convention.admin@apo.org and include three possible times when you are available for a follow-up phone call.
